PRINCIPAL

HILTON J. OTERO

We would like to thank you for your 18 years of dedicated service as principal of Arts High. You have shown patience, tolerance, and understanding. When others would have admitted defeat, you persisted. You trusted and believed in us when it was said that we were not worth the effort. For all you have done, it is necessary to acknowledge and express our appreciation. To sum it up, we would simply like to thank you for everything. Remember us always.

Sincerely,

Creative Storm

*Lightning,
Flashing across the stage
In a physical expression of life.*

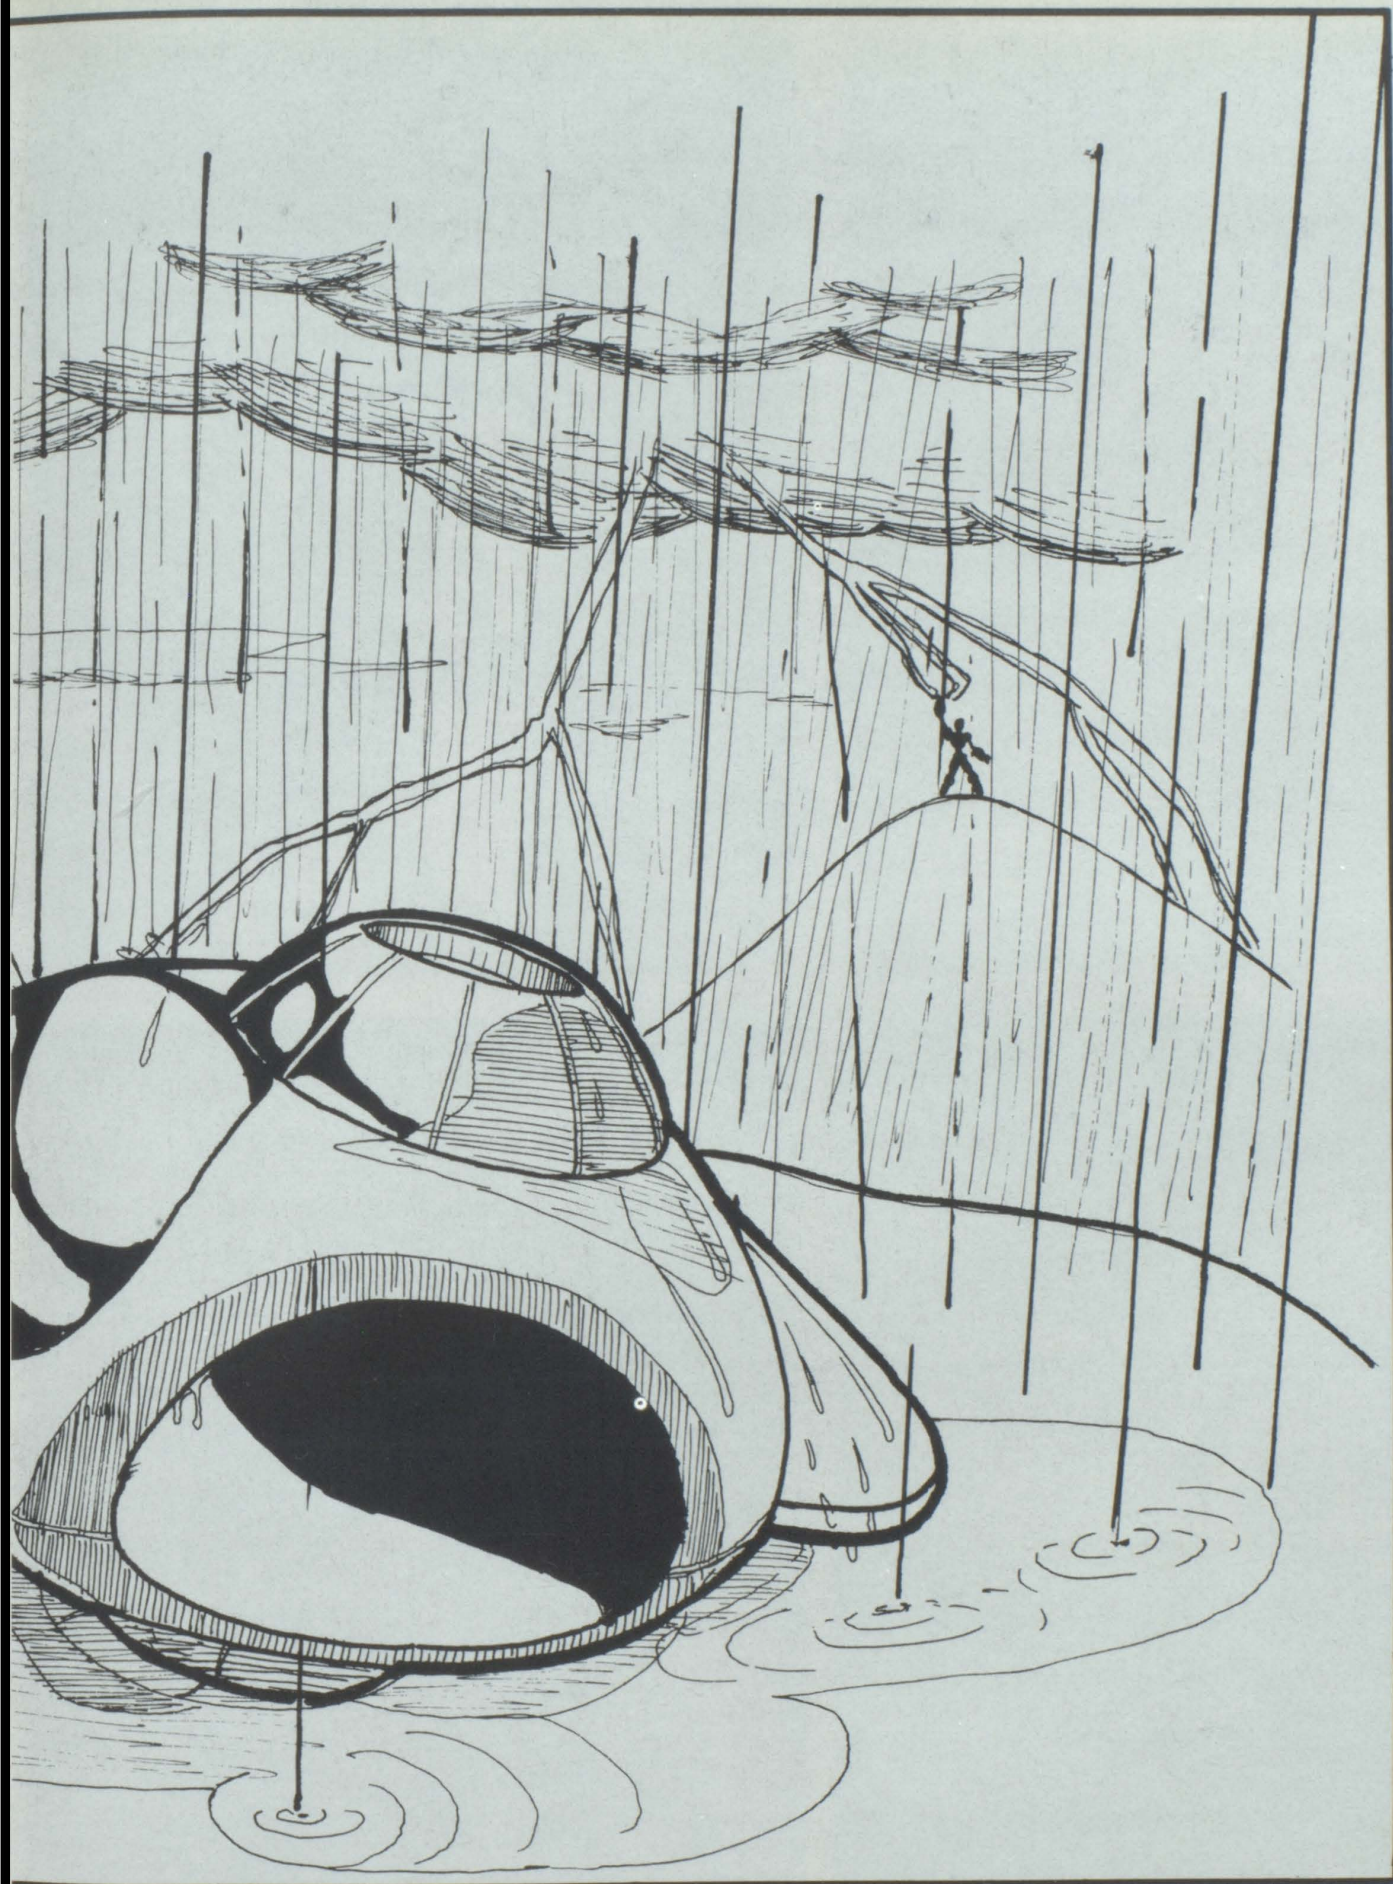

*A thunderstorm of emotions,
Rain of tears,
Flooding the audience
With overwhelming feeling.*

*A creative vortex of art,
Swirling images
Juxtapose in an elemental collage
Of talent.*

*A whirlpool of sound,
Swirling,
Blending,
Flowing,
Funneling into depths unknown.*

Activities

Various Musical Talents displayed at Winter Concert

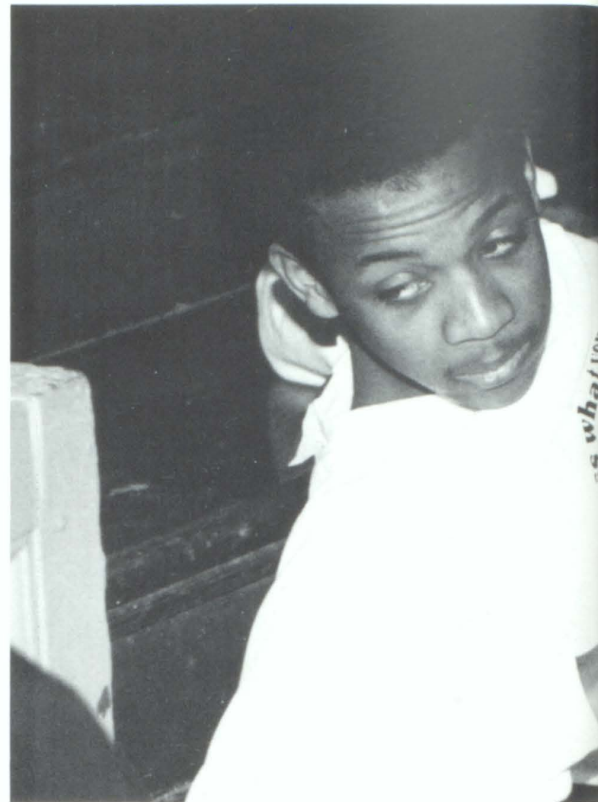

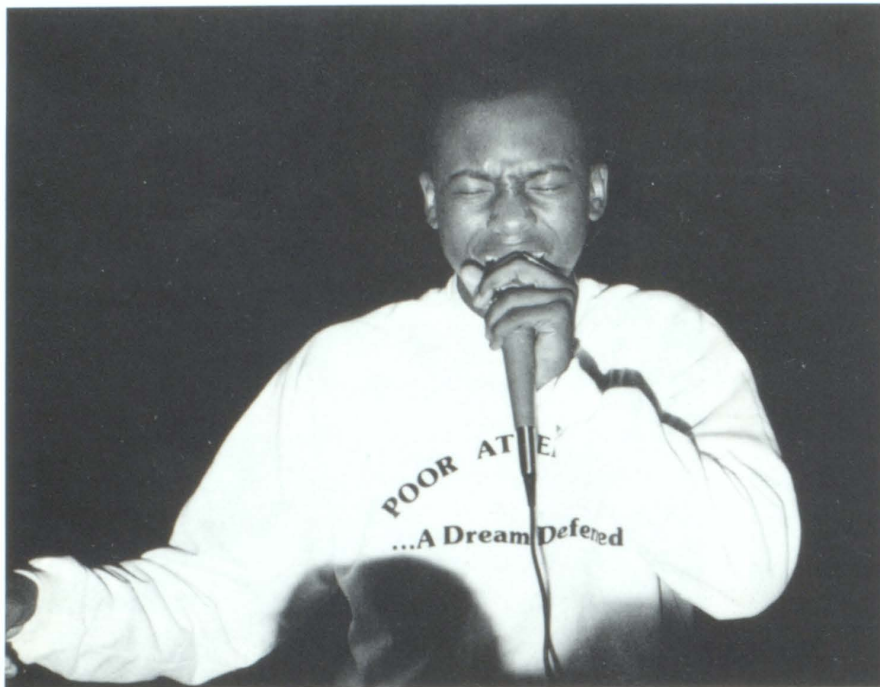

On January 28, 1990 the various musical talents of Arts High came together for the Winter Concert. The music was a montage of classical, Negro spiritual, and jazz.

Excellent performances were given by The Concert Orchestra, The Chamber Choir, and the Jazz Ensemble. Thanks to the talent of these groups, we got to hear sounds to soothe our troubled souls.

Spirit Day . . . Focusing Inward

Spirit In Our Souls

Perfect attendance is serious business to Arts High students; so is school spirit. The program for Spirit Day was designed to kick off Spirit Month and Perfect Attendance Month. Despite tons of last minute work and hasty preparation, the program went over with relatively few hitches. Let's hear it for our student leaders!

"The House of Bernarda Alba" is a play written by Garcia Lorca completed on June 19, 1947, shortly before his death in the Spanish Civil War. This play was intended to give a realistic depiction of the repressed lives of women living in the villages of Spain.

"The House of Bernarda Alba" was performed on January 18, 1990 at Essex County College by the Senior Drama Majors of Arts High School.

Jeanette Rivera portrayed Bernarda Alba, mother and tyrant over the household. Juliette Rallo was the eldest daughter named Angustias, who was a "momma's girl". Lacosha Stevenson played the role of Magdelana, the joker of the family. Keisha Hightower was Amelia, peacemaker of the family. Deyanira Cabrera played Martirio, the jealous sister who stops at nothing to see Angustias married.

Wanda Ortiz portrayed Adela, the youngest daughter who is having an affair with Angustias' soon to be husband. Poncia, portrayed by Knishon Sims, is a close friend to Bernarda and confidante to her daughters. Antonia Hamilton portrayed the servant, a person who suffers from Bernarda's cruelty. Lisa Bishop appeared as Maria Josefa, the "crazy" mother of Bernarda, who knows and sees all.

"The House of Bernarda Alba" is presented with great power at Essex County College.

*Let us remember:
Timbuktu,
Egypt,
Ghana,
And the Ivory Coast.*

*Let us honor:
Hannibal,
Shaka,
And Cleopatra in her dusky beauty.*

*To separate from heritage
Is to take away part of one's soul,
To join with one's heritage
Is to claim one's birthright.*

Highlighting the Arts

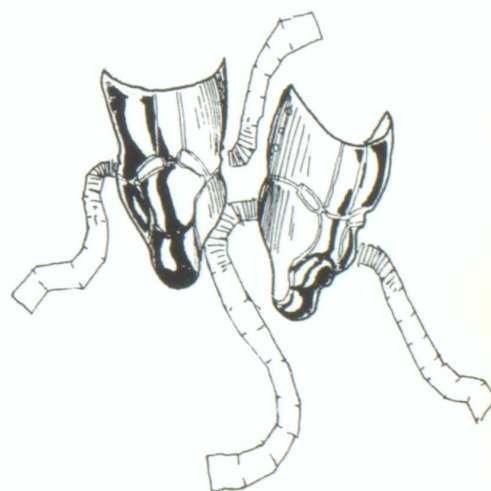

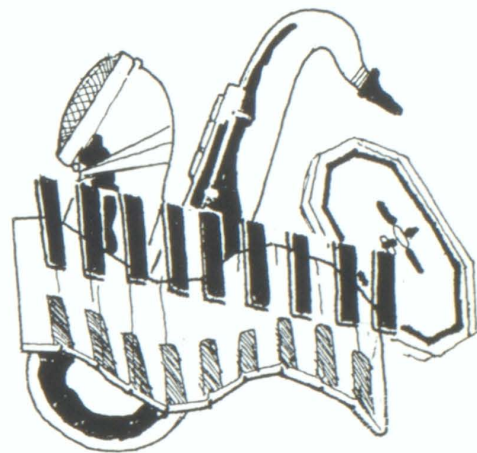

My Love for the Craft

I love my craft. Sometimes she tends to dominate my life. Many sleepless nights I lie in my bed wishing that she was with me. For it is her beauty that brings me great joy. She frees my soul and unleashes all those feelings trapped within me. My love for her is beyond explanation.

The statue, "Behold", created by New York sculptor Patrick Morelli, was inspired by Alex Haley's novel "Roots". The statue was on display at the Newark Public Library to salute Black History Month.

Recording artist, Lori Michaels Stetanovich, jams with the student body!

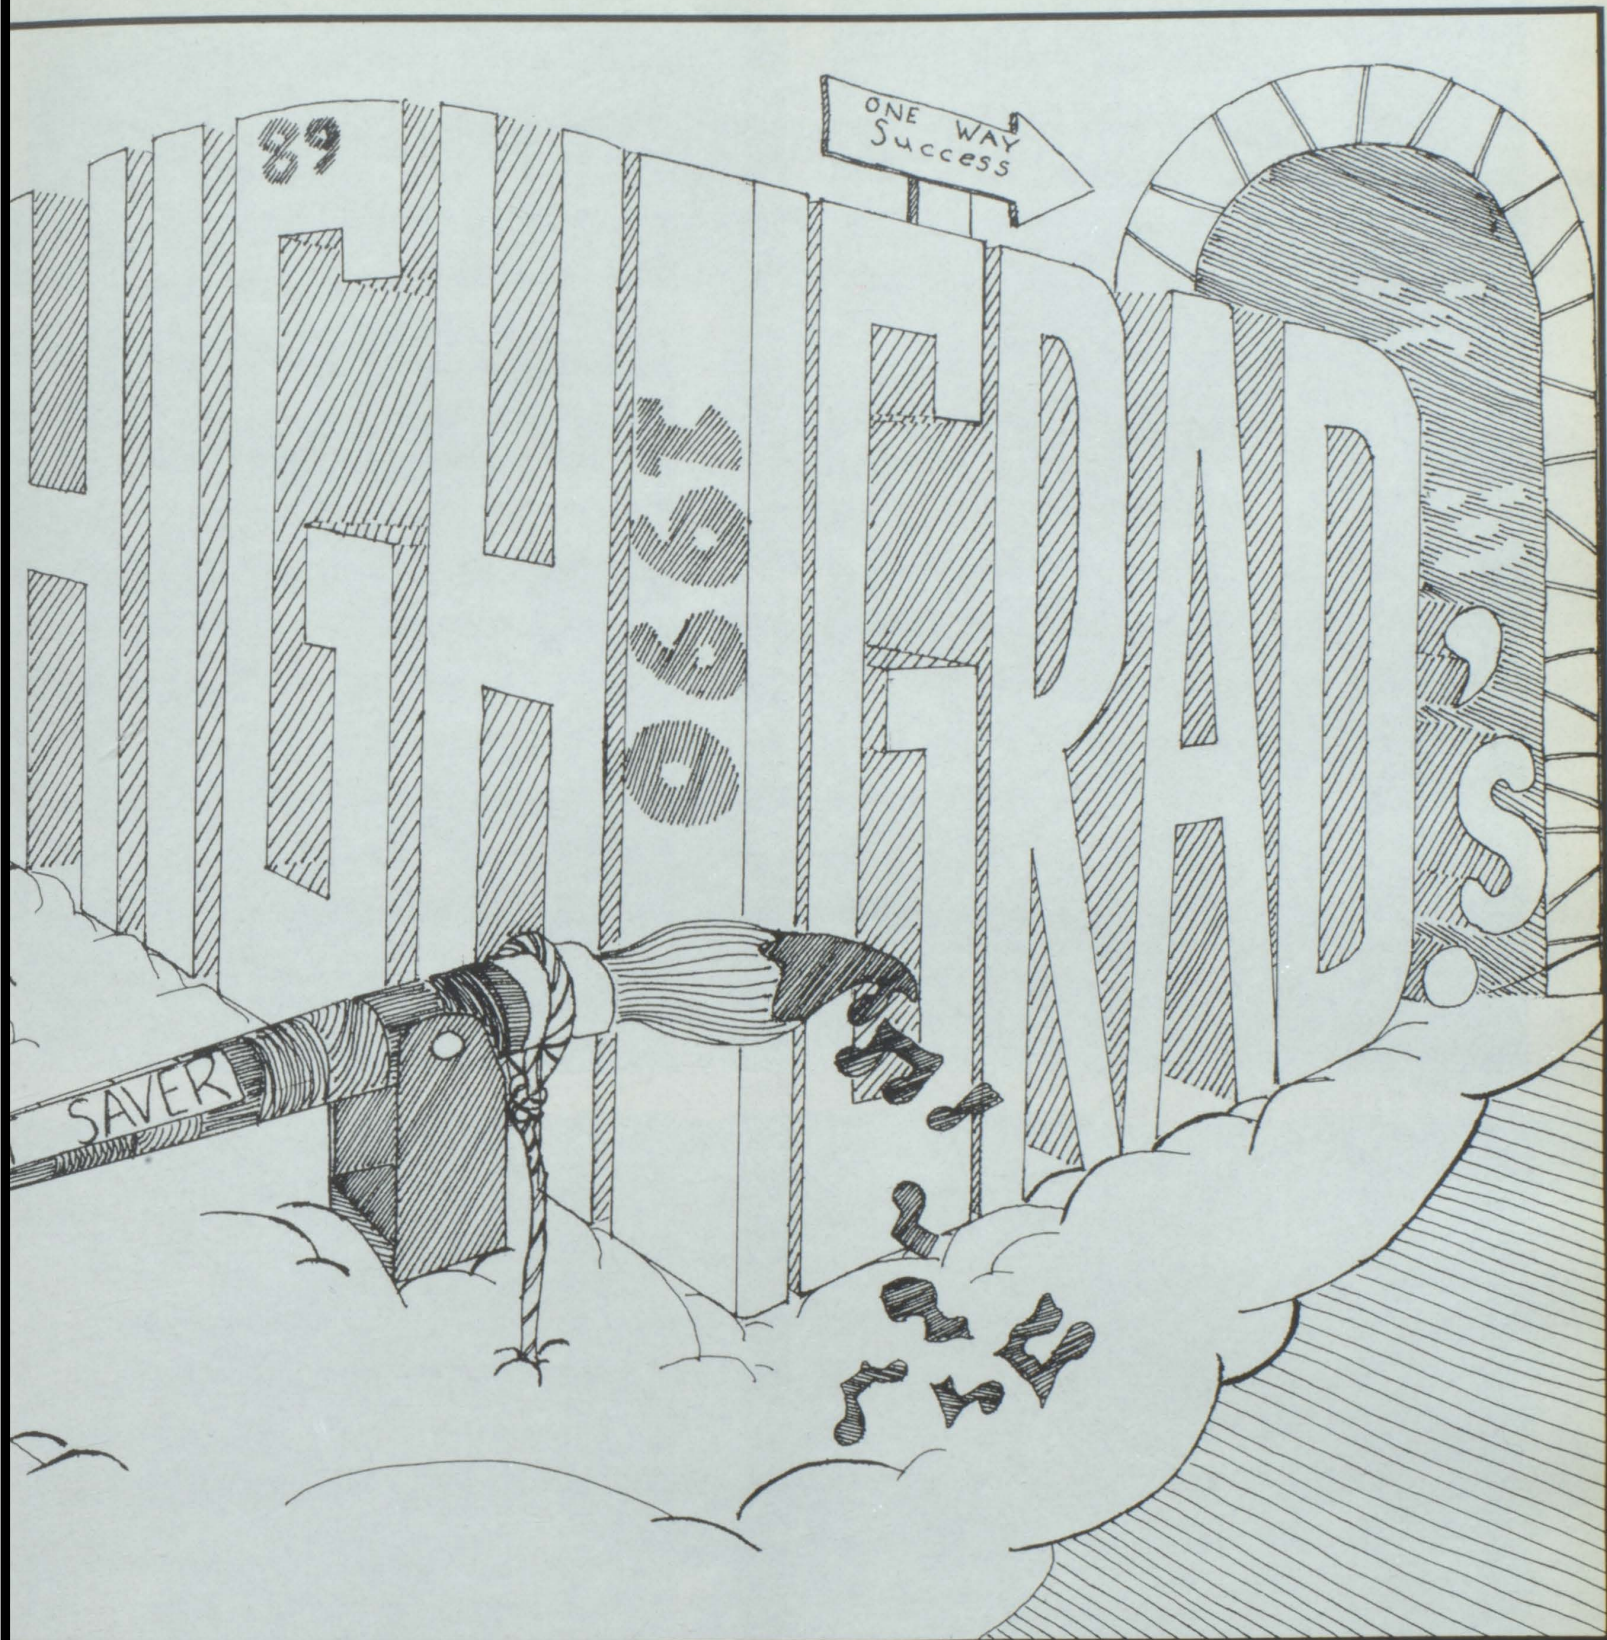

Film-maker Spike Lee and cinematographer Ernest Dickerson visited the Newark Library and encouraged Newark residents to support Black films.

*Sweet sounds of a saxophone that shines

Boys' Basketball Team competes in Colonial Hills Conference

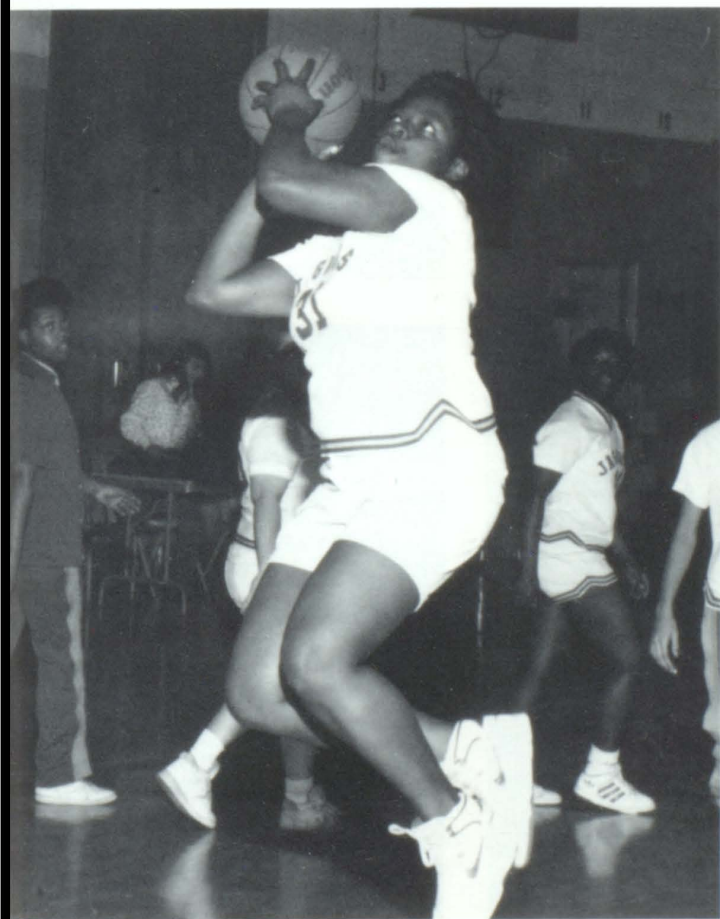

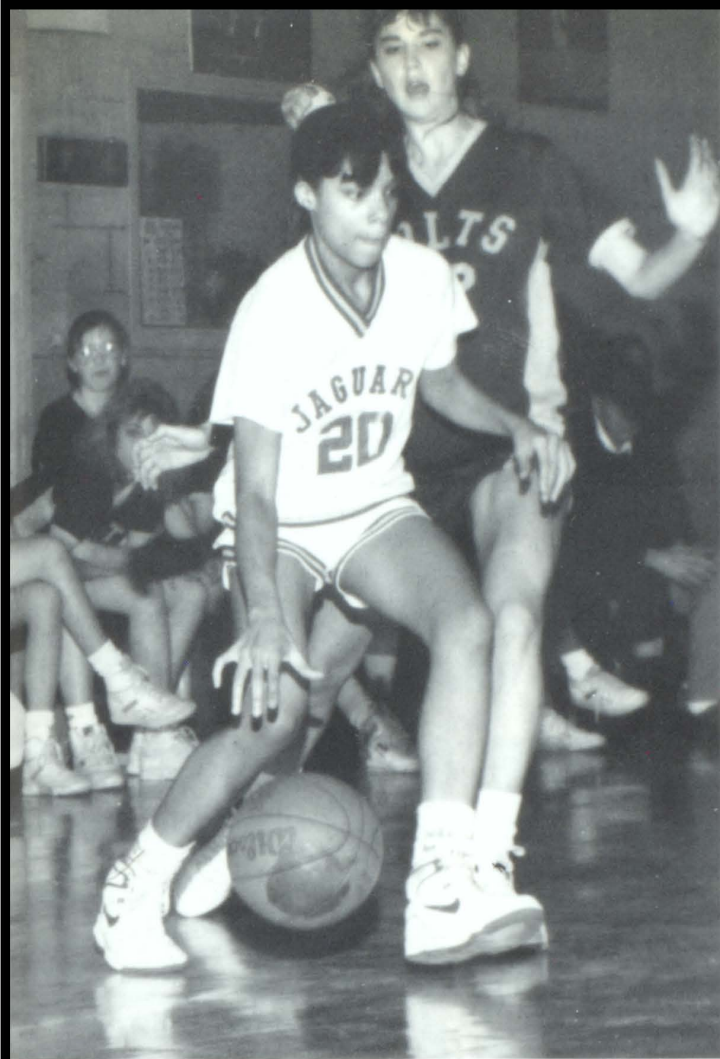

The boys' basketball team completed its season with a record of 9 wins & 13 losses. Senior members of the team were Captain Demond Davis, Jerel Locke, and Abron Glover. The squad competed in the Colonial Hills Conference for the first time and looks forward to next season.

Girls' Basketball Team has a 12 -12 season.

The girls' basketball team was led by seniors including team captain, Vangela Crowe, the leading rebounder; Jackie Oliver, the school's all-time leading scorer; and Latoya Norman the top three point shooter. The squad finished the regular season with a 12-12 record and qualified for the state tournament.

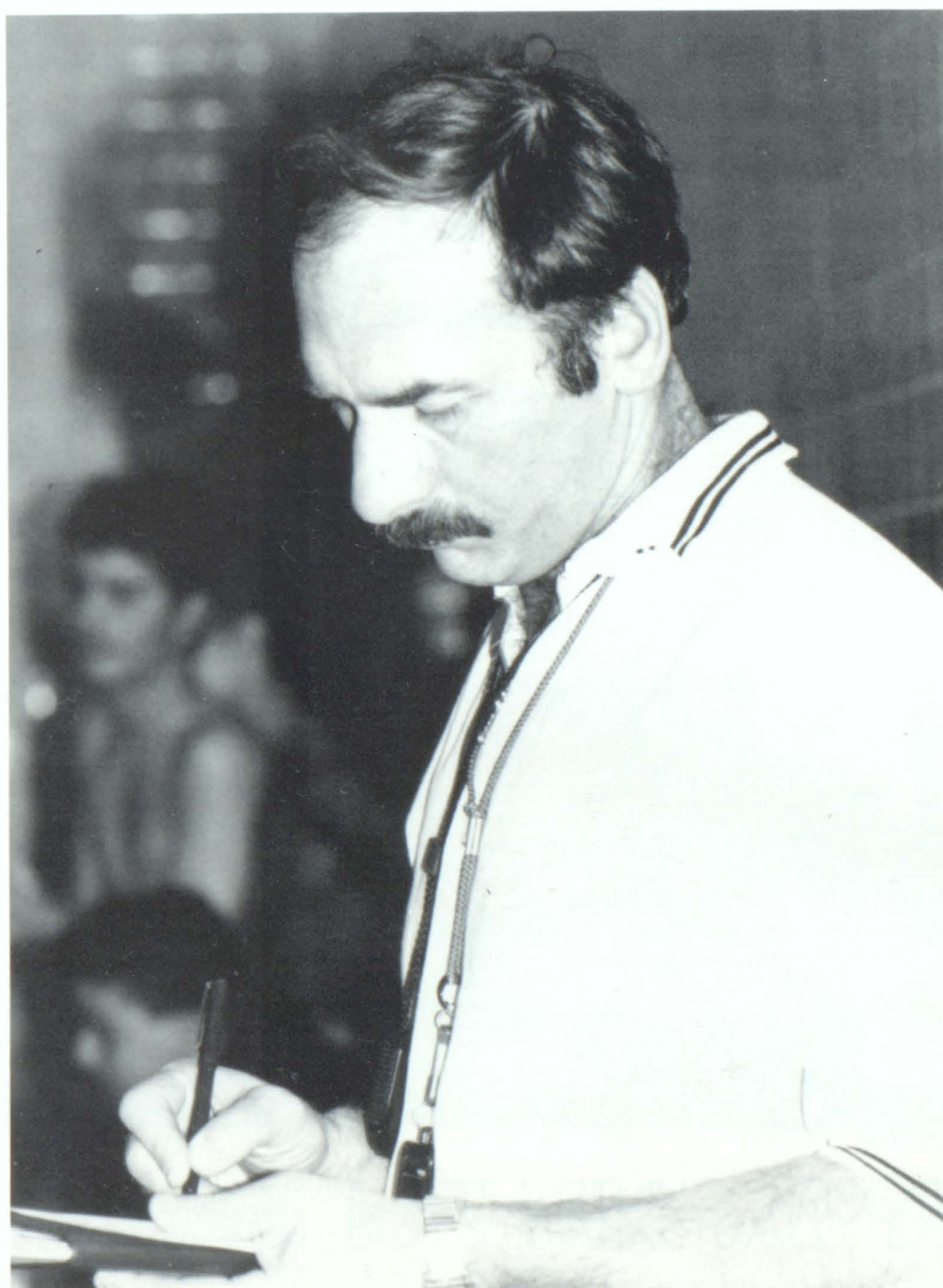

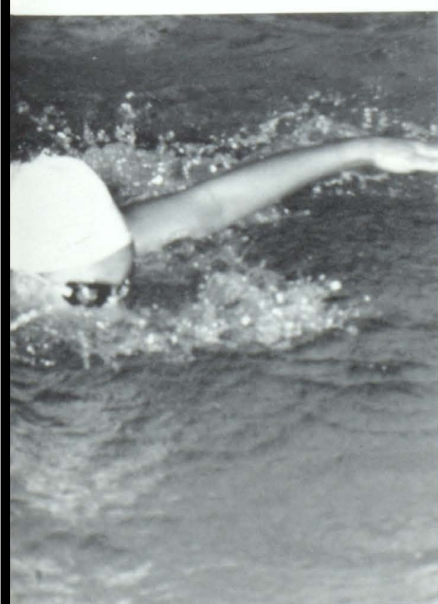

Swimming Team reinstituted

With a rebirth of swimming in the city, Arts High was proud to be one of only three schools to field a team. The group consisted of seven dedicated underclassmen who each made great improvement during the course of the season. The team was led by Nikole Mitchell and Dadisi Dubose. A larger and stronger squad is anticipated next year.

The Art of Expression Or Is It Expression in Art?

*You can express your feelings in many ways.
A smile, a wink, and even a brush-away.*

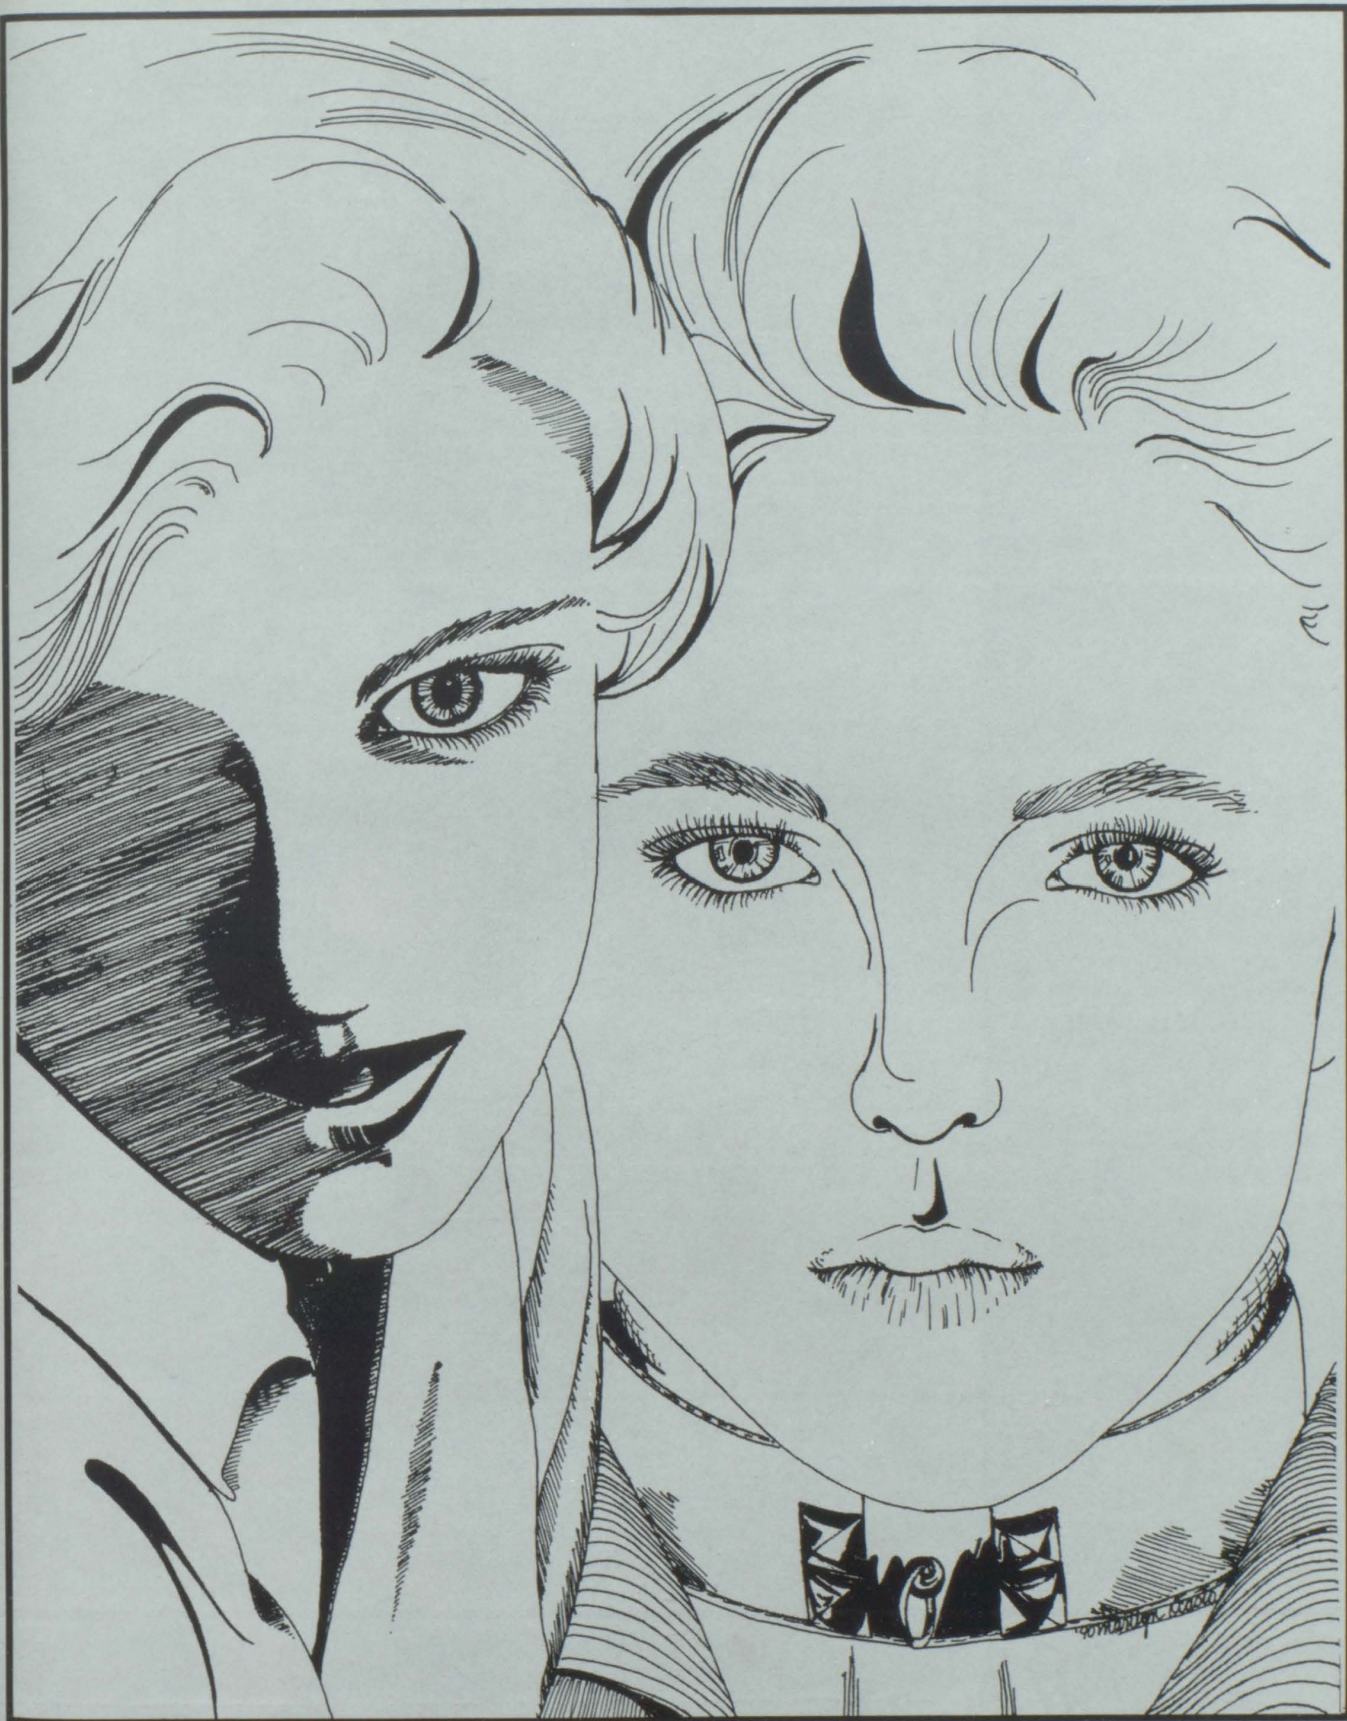

*Ordinary people usually use these actions,
but by being an artist I use more than just a reaction.*

*I draw my sadness into a shade,
and erase the mistakes I make on the way.*

*I ink in permanently the greatest moments I've had,
and last, I listen to people criticize it, praise it,
and some even nag.*

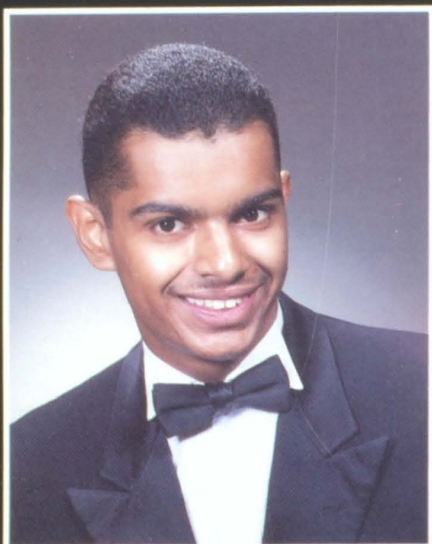

Art be creative express yourself!

Through the eyes of the artist
We see the world as it is perceived
By the stroke of a paintbrush,
The movements of a dancer,
The interpretations of an actor.

Our ears are attuned
To the sounds of a singer's voice,
The rhythms of a musician.

Culture, heritage, history
Are integrated into
The creation of an artist.

We are manipulated
By the forces unleashed
From the soul
Of the ethnic artist.

I have a love
One that awaits me each day
I admit sometimes I am
Reluctant to come
It isn't that I wish not to come
It isn't that I wish not to touch you
But sometimes I drift away.

Wednesday afternoon was great
I had an incredible urge to touch you
My lips pressed firmly against you
I had to play your body
We made a sweet song.

Days like that make me never want to stray
I know you have heard this before
But I do want to stay.
I shall put you away now
Lay you back in your bed and close the case.
Rest well, my Love
My Sweet Clarinet, Charlene.

THE ARTISTIC FIEND

My friends have warned me many times to slow down. They have told me not to push myself yet they just don't understand. One day I tried to explain to my older brother why I push myself. However he simply placed his right hand on my left shoulder and laughed. "You just need a woman, boy," he whispered. I know what I need. Within me, there is a need to create. I live to create. For it is the only thing in my life which brings me pleasure.

THE RACE

*Life is just one big stopwatch for the race of culture and creed,
The race throughout winter and spring, a call we all must heed.*

*Throughout the autumn's sullen
heat,
At last when we all have run the last lap, is when the race for life is complete.*

Aaron Neumb

FOREVER BONDED

*Through our blood, sweat, and tears,
We are bound.
Through the emotions we have shared,
We are bound.
Ties, lasting through the years
Spiritual, creative, emotional bonds,
That can never be broken.*

THE PATH WE MUST FOLLOW

Everyone is to Follow a Path:

*A path we've never seen before
 A path that holds dark secrets
 A path we know nothing about
 Given no detail, asking no questions
 But yet, we take this road, a road of Life.
 After walking a while, in which we Experienced Trials and Tribulations
 We began to see a piercing light
 Which we thought held many things.
 Not knowing once we reached that light
 That was the end of the Road that We've never seen before.*

Tywonja Jones

POWER

*Pulsing in our veins trying to come out
 Overwhelming eagerness begins to scream and shout
 Whether in our class or walking in the hall
 Everlasting accomplishments bursting in us all
 Restless in our souls; success screams within Power conquers everything once desire to win begins!*

To the alumni day tradition . . .
Vaya con Dios!

To Miss Lusane
May you always be endowed with eternal youth.

New Millennium

To Public Enemy and Boogie Down Productions:

Continue to teach our Black youth about our history because our school systems seldom do.

To Knishon:

May our lives together forever be filled with joy and happiness . . . Love, Kevin.

To Mrs. Curvin:

May the newspaper continue with the "poise" and "elegance" you strived for.

To da Bored of Educashun:

We be likin' to tank you fore our buetifal edumacdatation?

To the Guidance Counselors:

Thank you for your support.

To Mr. Carden:

Thank you for your patience.

To Mr. Leslie:

May you continue to wear a necklace of roses.

To J. Edgar Hoover:

Burn, Baby, Burn!

To William O'Neal:

The "brother man" who was the instrument of Fred Hampton's destruction.

The "brother man" who was an informant for the F.B.I.

The "brother man" who infiltrated the Black Panther Party.

All for the sum of three hundred dollars.

Tell us, "brother man", was it really worth it?

To all Drug Dealers:

Stop selling to the brother man.

Take that stuff back to the other man who brought it over here.

To all future Art Majors:

May you have the opportunity to venture beyond the walls of Arts High.

To all future Drama Majors:

When performing, remember to always wear your protective headgear.

Voices for the New Millennium is a collection of written material done by students, expressing themselves on personal and political issues. Hopefully, this piece will encourage the upcoming graduates of Arts High School to develop an abundance of imaginative, original and even unorthodox methods of expressing their opinions on ideas, values, events and people with which they may or may not agree. Too often, students are told what to write, when to write and how to write. However, Voices 4 the New Millennium gives young writers creative license. In conclusion, we, the class of '90, wish for the future students, the New Millennium of Arts High, to establish a tradition which encourages the masses to express themselves in a creative, yet responsible manner.

Many Days

*Many days I have sat and wondered.
Many days I have come to conclusions
And I have taken them back again.
Unsure, but sure.
Positive, but totally confused.*

*Many days I have refused to think at all.
Blocking out everything within myself.
Just myself and I.
Together.*

*Many days I have thought of you.
Occupying every space in my mind.
Filling me up with your smile,
Your laugh, your eyes.*

*Many days I have come to the realization
The realization that I was made to think.
I am not perfect.
Not at all.
I am only human.*
